

Who We're

Headquartered in London but servicing customers globally, Olalang wants to help develop a multilingual world and improve how we communicate around the globe!

Our Story

In 2016, Olalang Ltd launched one platform that provides one-to-one live tutoring sessions to learn foreign languages. Working with only native speakers tutors , we give online live & customized language lessons to students for all levels. Since we launched we received queries from families with children & teens . They needed a new approach regarding their children foreign language education. Today, we decided to launch one new service that starts from the beginning : babies .

What you'll be building

Our aim is to push the impact of early foreign language education further than ever before.

We're creating a new community where monolingual families can raise multilingual children and multilingual families can improve the minority language at home.

This means we spend most of our time building the most effective early language learning program, figuring out how to spread the impact of early foreign language education further than ever before, and connecting that impact to new opportunities.

Who you'll be building with

Our team is made up of people who loves to work with babies & languages and enjoy making things easier for them and their families.

We work in a flexible company that loves remote work .We don't believe in a top-down, shoulder-tapping, 9–5 type culture. At Olalang Ltd, you have the autonomy to manage yourself.
